

Image 1

You wake up in a cryopod aboard a space station. The last thing you remember is volunteering for a top-secret space mission. Looking around, you see that the station is eerily quiet and everything is in disarray. Suddenly, an alarm blares and a computerized voice announces that the station is under attack by an unknown threat.

- Option 1: Try to find any survivors and work together to escape.
- Option 2: Stay put and try to gather information about the attacker.
- Option 3: Look for the escape pods and attempt to flee the station alone.
- Option 4: Fight back and try to take down the attacker.