

Image 1

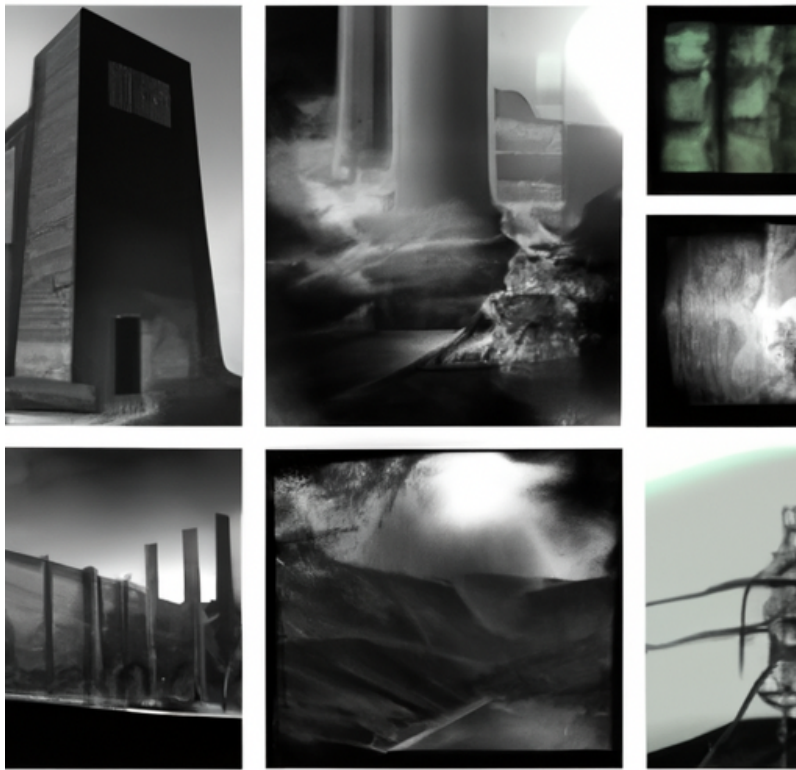

You are the captain of a spaceship traveling through the galaxy when suddenly, your ship's engine malfunctions and starts to malfunction. You quickly realize that you need to make an emergency landing on the nearest planet to repair the engine. The planet seems uninhabited, but there are some strange structures in the distance. You have three options:

Option 1: Investigate the structures

Option 2: Repair the engine and leave immediately

Option 3: Send a team to investigate the structures while you repair the engine

What do you choose?

Image 2

You and a team of your crew members venture towards the structures, and as you get closer, you realize that they seem to be ancient ruins. You enter one of the buildings and discover a strange device that seems to emit an energy field. You have two options:

Option 1: Activate the device

Option 2: Leave the device alone and continue searching the ruins

What do you choose?

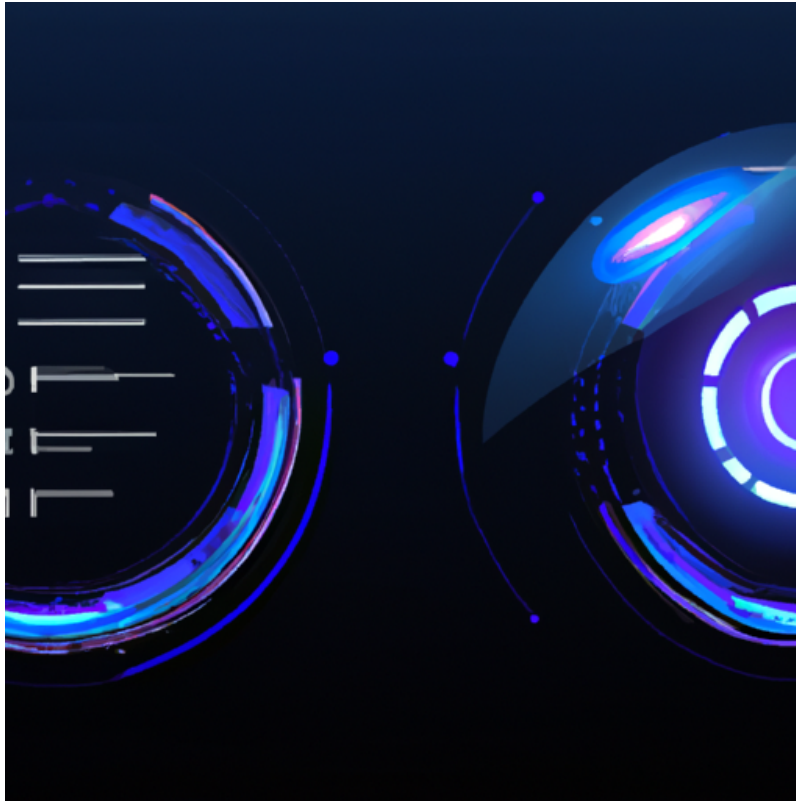

Image 3

As you activate the device, you suddenly become surrounded by a bright light and transported to an unknown location. You find yourselves in a vast room with floating platforms and glowing orbs. Suddenly, a holographic projection appears, and it is in a language that you do not understand, but you recognize that it belongs to an advanced alien civilization. You have two options:

- Option 1: Try to communicate with the hologram
- Option 2: Explore the room and the floating platforms

What do you choose?