

Image 1

You are a member of a crew traveling through space on a mission to make contact with an alien species on a distant planet. As you get closer to the planet, you receive a distress call from a nearby spaceship. Option 1: Investigate the distress call and potentially delay your mission. Option 2: Ignore the distress call and continue with your mission as planned.