You wake up from cryogenic sleep aboard your ship and discover that a strange energy field has enveloped your ship. Your instruments show that you are in an unknown area of space. As you start to explore your surroundings, you hear a strange voice in your head. It's telling you that it has brought you here for a reason and that you must complete a task. Suddenly, a holographic image appears before you.

The image is of a strange alien race you have never seen before. The alien speaks to you, "Greetings space traveler. We have brought you here for a task of utmost importance. Our planet is dying, and we need your help to save it. We have been searching the universe for someone who can help us, and we believe you are the one."

Option 1: Agree to help the aliens.

Option 2: Refuse their request and ask them to send you back to your ship.

Option 3: Ask for more details about the task before making a decision.

The holographic image smiles and says, "Thank you for agreeing to help us. The task is simple. Our planet is in the path of an asteroid that will destroy it unless we can deflect it. We need you to use your ship's weapons to destroy the asteroid before it hits our planet. We will provide you with the coordinates of the asteroid, and you must act quickly before it's too late."

- Option 1: Agree to head towards the asteroid.
- Option 2: Ask the aliens for more information about the asteroid.
- Option 3: Refuse to help the aliens and demand to be sent back to your ship.
